

GOMPERS WILL BE RE-ELECTED
OVER LEWIS

A. F. O. L. Will Hold Convention June 13 In Denver.
JOHN L. LEWIS OUT
Opposition To Present Chief Not Strong Enough Is Belief.

Washington, May 28.—Samuel Gompers, for forty years head of the American Federation of Labor, will be re-elected without opposition, when the federation convenes in Denver, Colorado, June 13, political dopesters in labor circles predicted today.

The prediction was based on reports from the "opposition" as the insurgents in the federation are known, that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America who has been boomed to succeed Gompers, is "out of the running" and on denial by E. C. Davison, secretary-treasurer of the International Machinists Association that his organization has pledged support to Lewis.

The machinists union is the largest insurgent body in the federation and has the third largest voting strength. It has been claimed that its delegations to the Denver convention and the delegates of the railroad unions would cast their votes for Lewis.

Lewis has never announced himself as a candidate to succeed Gompers. He has refused to discuss reports of his candidacy or make comment on campaign in his behalf. His supporters, however, made it understood that he would be willing to oppose Gompers if the sentiment of the Denver convention showed demand for a change in administration.

Those pressing the campaign to elect him, declared today, that alignments at the convention will compel him to run and he will have sufficient support to win. They predict developments as soon as the convention opens.

The latest report in labor circles, is that the Gompers forces will consent to placing William H. Johnston, president of the International Machinists Association and regarded as the leader of the insurgent movement on the executive council, the central administrative body of the federation. There are also rumors that notwithstanding Gompers' election there will be more than one change in the membership of the council.

OPPOSITION TO
"CLOSED SHOP" IS
CAUSE OF TROUBLE
Cleveland Chamber Of Commerce Will Investigate Suit

Cleveland, O., May 28.—In continuance of its declared policy of opposition to the "closed shop" the Cleveland chamber of commerce disclosed today that it will bring suit against building trades employers association and the building trades council, if an agreement is reached between the two organizations providing for "closed shop" conditions.

"We will seek the opportunity to test the legality of such closed union shop agreements," declared Alexander C. Brown, president of the chamber of commerce. "We are confident that such a test will effectively prove our contention that such agreements are illegal and void being clearly contrary to public policy."

NEWS NUGGETS

DUBLIN RIOTERS BURN DOWN $5,000,000 CUSTOMS HOUSE.

Dublin, Ireland suffered recently the greatest outburst of violence since the Easter rebellion of 1916. In addition to the killing of several persons the $5,000,000 Customs House, shown in the photo, was destroyed. The whole city was thrown into a panic. The streets leading to the suburbs were choked with refugees. A huge pall of smoke from burning buildings hung over the waterfront. Heavy fighting took place near the Customs House, the raiders being attacked after leaving the structure to burn, by Black and Tan reinforcements that arrived in three lorries. More than 5,000 shots were fired.

LEGISLATURE IS GRANTED FINAL
CHANGE TO VOTE

Unless Agreement Reached
Davis Will Dissolve Session.

Columbus, O., May 28.—The house, at a full session today, is expecting to vote on the question of adopting, or rejecting, a joint resolution, introduced by Senator Whittemore, Akron, and adopted by the senate by a vote of 21 to 12, providing for a recess by the state legislature until January 9, next, unless convened at an earlier date through a call issued by the presiding officers of the senate and house.

By a vote of 26 to 12, the senate defeated a motion by Senator Bell, Cincinnati, Republican, to amend the resolution so as to provide for sine die adjournment.

If the house rejects the resolution, Governor Davis is expected to issue a proclamation dissolving the legislature and, shortly afterwards, to convene the legislators in special session in another effort to solve the taxation problem.

The senate committee consisting of Senators Culbert, Sandusky, Norwood, Stark and Reynolds, Cuyahoga county, has been appointed to probe the report that "there are certain positions which are to be abolished at the penitentiary." The committee also, is empowered to investigate the manner in which the penitentiary has been conducted.

In the contrary case so the correspondent is informed, Germany will not apply for membership

Foreign Nations Ask Loans
From U. S. Treasure Chest

Harding Told By Group Of Powerful International Bankers That Quickest Road To Prosperity Lies Through Refinancing Europe.

Washington, May 28.—Holding more than a third of the total gold supply of the world and steadily receiving more, the United States has become the world's treasure chest, and practically every nation impoverished by the war, is already negotiating for great loans in American financial markets.

France already is floating $100,000,000 and if this is successful other nations will follow in quick succession according to opinions expressed today in treasury circles.

It was the knowledge of this condition and a desire to safeguard the dominant position America has gained that led President Harding to summon to Washington a group of the most powerful international bankers of the country and convey to them the gentle hint that the administration does not relish the idea of stripping American industry of easy credit in order to finance competitions abroad.

President Harding was told by the international bankers that the quickest road to American prosperity lay through re-financing Europe.

It can be stated authoritatively, however, that Pres. Harding and his advisers have not accepted this theory in its entirety and the views of mid-western bankers will be sought before any administration encouragement will be given the flotation of these great loans in American markets. The middle-western bankers to a large extent, finance the agriculture of "the heart of America," and are not so concerned with international loans as are the powerful eastern interests.

The views of southern bankers who finance the cotton growing belt also will be sought by the administration.

YOUNG GIRL KILLED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.—A seventeen year old telephone operator, Josephine Howard, was mysteriously shot dead, early today, while walking with a student of the University of Pennsylvania.

The police are searching for Lester Newhall, 21, who, according to the dead girl's mother, had been jilted by Josephine and had subsequently uttered threats.

The young operator and her student friend were passing the corner of 18th and Cherry streets when the assassin leaped from a scaffolding in front of a residence and fired twice from a revolver. The shots came from such a close range that the girl's clothing caught fire.

Harding's Sudden Arrival
from Paris Causes Stir
In London.

Much comment has been caused in London official circles by the sudden return from Paris of Lord Hardinge, British Ambassador to France, according to a dispatch from London. The Ambassador's sudden return after Lloyd George's sensational attack on Poland and Premier Briand's challenge has caused no end of discussion.

CLEVELAND WOMAN
WILL FILL PLACE
ON STATE BODY

Rose Moriarity Becomes
Member of Industrial Commission.

Columbus, O., May 28.—Without an opposing vote, the senate confirmed the appointment by Governor Davis of Miss Rose Moriarity, Cleveland, Republican, as a member of the state industrial commission, succeeding H. L. Elliott, Delaware, Republican. Miss Moriarity's appointment is for a six year term commencing on July 1, next. Commissioner Elliott's term of six years ends on June 30. The position pays $5,000 a year.

This is the first time an Ohio woman has been chosen for one of the most important highest salaried positions in the state government.

Miss Moriarity, for years deputy city auditor of Elyria, was prominent in the suffrage movement, was an organizer of Republican women's clubs during the last presidential campaign and advocated enactment of the Schriener minimum wage commission bill by the present state legislature.

CREATES SENSATION

New Epoch Of Turbulence
May Follow Doubling
Of Soldiers.

London, May 28.—A British army, stronger numerically and better trained and equipped than Kitchener's "First Hundred Thousand" in the great war will be in Ireland before the new week is far along, according to plans decided upon by the cabinet and believed to be in the process of execution today.

Partial publication of these plans which call for a re-doubling of the present strength of the British army in Ireland, which is 56,000 was the sensation of the day here and expect to create a even greater sensation throughout Ireland when it becomes known. Coming on the heels of the Ulster election which though it gave DeValera and other Sinn Fein chiefs seats in the Ulster parliament, was generally interpreted as a Sinn Fein defeat, Premier Lloyd George's decision to use the "mailed fist" in Ireland more aggressively than ever before, is expected to mark a new epoch in the whole history of the Irish problem.

The fear was almost universal that it will be a new epoch of turbulence for the Irish republicans have just shown by their organized attacks on the black and tans in Dublin and other parts of Ireland, that they are determined to fight back with every ounce of counter-aggression they can muster.

Despatches from Ireland were consequently awaited with eagerness today and the general atmosphere, even in official quarters was that fraught with grave foreboding.

RICKENBACKER WILL TOUGH DAYTON IN FLIGHT IS REPORT

Transfers To Another
Plane Is Plan Outlined.

Chicago, May 28.—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace, took the air at 7:30 a. m. today on the fourth leg of his flight from Redwood City, Cal., to Washington. He left Checkboard flying field in an army plane, from Rantoul field, piloted by Lieut. Wolbridge.

Rickenbacker will fly from Chicago to Dayton, where he will land, transfer to another plane for the final stage of his flight to Washington. He expects to reach the national capital by 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Enroute from Omaha to Chicago late yesterday, Rickenbacker snatched a few hours sleep in the cockpit of the mail plane, piloted by William C. Hopson.

Dayton, May 28.—Containing an eight hour supply of gasoline and ready for use, a D H 9 is at McCook field for use of Eddie Rickenbacker. Officials at McCook's and Wilbur Wright fields were keeping a lookout for the flyer although they were not certain he would alight at either post, unless landing was made for some particular purpose.

HOSTILITIES STILL ON

London, May 28.—Hostilities between the Polish insurgents and German volunteers in Upper Silesia continue without signs of a let up, today's dispatches indicated. Word has just been received here from Karlsruhe that Polish insurgents have bombarded the town of Egerstorf, using cannon as well as machine guns. An attack also was made on the important city of Katowitz (the dispatch adds).

ACCUSED WIDOW
FACES JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

Woman Alleged Implicated
In Husband's Death, Silent

Bridgeport, Conn., May 28.—One day nearer freedom or the gallows. Motionless in his misery, Mrs. Ethel Hutchins Nott, sits still and placid as a porcelain image. Only the darting glances of her dark eyes, betray the interest the accused now displays in the progress of her trial for life.

Her hand is upheld. She looks at the judge and jury fearlessly. But yet a tear is seen to fall. It catches on the net of her widow's veil.

Testimony so far, is tiresome—extremely so. Identification of photographs, location of rooms in the former Nott home and talk of stains and marks on walls and halls.

Those who came to watch the "woman pay" may have to wait until a later date to see her settle whatever account the law decides she owes to her life.

ALLEGED MEMBERS
OF I. W. W. HELD

Denver, Colo., May 28.—Twenty-seven itinerants said by police to be members of the I. W. W. were lodged in city jail today charged with vagrancy, following their hold up of a freight train on the Union Pacific railroad at Cheyenne, last night on which they rode into this city.

The police at Cheyenne got rough," said one member of the arrested gang, "so we decided to leave town."

Denver police were notified of the commandeering of the train and a squad of 20 heavily armed patrolmen met the freight on its arrival here and made the wholesale arrests without encountering resistance.

APPELLATE COURT
MODIFIES FORMER DECISION FRIDAY

The Court of Appeals, in a decision handed down Friday, modified its former decision in the case of Mary Barrett, administratrix, against Adelaide Skinner, so as to charge interest on $500 involved in the case, only from August 22, 1920.

The decision states that upon reconsideration and re-examination of the report of the special master commissioner, it was found that no interest was charged upon items considered by him before the date. The defendant sought to have interest charged in full on amount. Counsel in the case consist of Charles L. Darlington and Frank L. Johnson for the plaintiff and Marcus Shoup and W. L. Miller for the defendant.

CABINET RESIGNS

Berlin, May 28.—The Polish cabinet has resigned as a result of friction between the parties represented by its members, according to the usually well informed Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

COMMERCE AND AMITY TREATY
NOW PROPOSED

Proposal Is Along Lines
Of Convention Of 1831.

SOLVES PROBLEM

Method Takes Place Of Written Guarantee Of Good Faith.

Washington, May 28.—George T. Summerlin, American charge in Mexico City has entered into discussion with President Obregon, it was announced at the state department today.

No further announcement was made as to the nature of the discussions but it is understood here, they relate to the recognition of Mexico by the United States. Officials of the state department today reported previous denials of published reports that Summerlin will lay down definite proposals for recognition to President Obregon which follow the recommendations made by the senate committee headed by former Senator Fall which investigated the Mexican situation.

The state department is maintaining strict silence as to the terms of this government's policy with Mexico.

Washington, May 28.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico may be resumed thru the medium of a treaty of "commerce and amity" according to the opinion expressed today in high official circles. Such a treaty which would be along the general lines of the old convention of commerce and amity entered into 1831 and abrogated at the request of Mexico during the late revolution, would amply protect American lives and property in Mexico and could easily be made to include such matters as a method of settling American claims.

This method it was pointed out, would afford an easy means of surmounting what has heretofore been regarded as one of the greatest obstacles to an understanding, namely insistence by the United States upon Mexico's signing some sort of written guarantee of good faith, before recognition be extended to the Obregon government.

President Obregon has repeatedly stated, through the press, that he would never sign such a document and the letter from Secretary of State Coby, to Robert V. Pesquiera, last December in which such a course was suggested, has remained unanswered, notwithstanding the fact that Obregon has given numerous assurances of his intention to treat American interests justly and fairly.

The conclusion of a treaty between the United States and Mexico would in itself constitute recognition, according to experts on international law. Even the appointment of an accredited representative to negotiate such a treaty, would amount to recognition, and would constitute it beyond a doubt. If the credentials of that representative were formally accepted by the Mexican government.

The administration is unanimous in the belief that while the American position should be firmly and unmistakably stated, there should be nothing in the procedure calculated to humiliate the Obregon government and everywhere the belief is expressed that a satisfactory solution will be found.

ASK AMERICAN AID
FOR MANY STRICKEN
IN UPPER SILESIA

Polish Insurgents Continue
Attacks In Many Regions.

Berlin, May 28.—The city of Katowitz in the German section of Upper Silesia is sending a cablegram to the American secretary of state Charles Evans Hughes, appealing for American relief, it was learned here today. The cable states that "more than 250,000 refugees are in the city," that thousands of women and children are suffering from want of milk and that there is a serious famine in the city.

London dispatch today reports Polish insurgents gas attacking Katowitz.

Polish insurgents today were reported to have dynamited the railroad station at Rosenberg.

Heavy firing was going on along sections of the river Oder.

Two French officers hastening to the defense of the owners to the house in which they were billeted, successfully fought off Polish insurgents in a spirited rifle battle, finally putting the Poles to flight.

JUST BEGINNING

Although a good many of our Seniors do not realize it, they have only completed the beginning of the start of their education or life career because we all know that no matter how much knowledge we have acquired so far in our lives it seems as though we know nothing, in comparison with the vast amount left to be secured as a part of our learning.

As far as the completion of our short high school career is concerned it is the same story over again of "carry on." For we know nothing is gained for us or by us unless we are always prompt to fight forward in whatever is attempted. Thus it is with our education or the start into this great world of business enterprise, we must strive to either finish an honorable college term, or if we plunge direct from our high school education into business, to make a success of ourselves at the very start by pleasing those we are interested in.

FIRST MEETING HELD BY JUNIOR CLUB; OFFICERS ELECTED

The Junior Club which was organized about three weeks ago and is composed of Junior girls hiked out to the water works on Springfield Pike on Monday evening at five o'clock. A little excitement was caused after reaching the water works for they started back in to the fields and as they had a creek to cross and nothing to cross on, save the rocks in the water, several of the girls slipped and fell in but didn't get excited. It was only about three or four inches deep so they only received wet feet. Finally after everybody was across, a place for a fire was found and the supper which consisted of hamburgers, buns, potato salad, potato chips, pickles and olives was made ready. After doing justice to this delightful supper the club held its meeting and elected officers as follows.

Miss Prugh.....General Advisor
Ruth Washburn.....Captain or president
Fern Jack.....First Lieutenant
Alice Clemmer.....Second Lieutenant
Alice Rutan.....Quarter Master or Social Leader.

The constitution of the Club was also read and approved by the members present. The Junior girls who were present Monday evening will be charter members but all Junior girls can become members so come Junior girls let's join the Junior Club. The final name will be decided later.

PATRONS' DAY AT CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL DELIGHTS LARGE CROWD OF VISITORS

The Patron's Day Exhibit at Central High School proved to be a success. The skill of the pupils was readily shown by the artistic work that they presented for exhibition.

A great attraction was the domestic Science room. The dresses made by the girls of the sewing classes were indeed rewards for their industrious labor during the last semester. As one entered the room it reminded one of the Ladies' Fashion Shop and Confectionery Parlor. The many dresses of rainbow hues were cleverly arranged so as to give the public's critical eye the chance to see what the girls are doing. Hats made by the advanced classes also deserve special notice. The Freshmen girls in addition to their dresses contributed mouth-watering delicacies.

GOOD TIME IS ENJOYED AT ROAST

Friday evening a crowd of merry High School students decided to have a weiner roast at Kil Kare. The crowd met at Kil Kare about six thirty and set to work at the main business of a roast which consisted of weiners, buns, pickles, mustard and marshmallows. After that feature had been satisfactorily attended to the crowd voted to go to Bryan Park since the canoeing at Kil Kare had been spoiled. They motored to Bryan and as they were a little too early for the dancing a few of the crowd decided to walk thru the Park, enjoy the beautiful moonlight night. It seems that heroic deeds are brought to light in each succeeding generation and this wonderful walk a noted Junior carried his lady love across a marshy spot on a steep hill side. The thrilling part is yet to come for as they were just about half way across the Gaillard Hero and his Lady Fair did a regular Jack and Jill stunt. This of course caused a commotion among those of the walking party but they continued to the springs and then went back to the dance hall where they enjoyed the rest of the evening.

ALUMNI NOTES

Miss Pauline Beals of the class of '19 has been appointed to a position in the public schools of Caldwell, Idaho. She will teach in the grades and a class in Spanish in the High School.

She left Xenia soon after graduation and attended the University of Idaho for two years. She will be remembered as the beautiful May Queen crowned in 1918. Hazel Evans who has been in a hospital in Denver for nearly two years is slowly recovering her health. She has been moved to the convalescent department and is able to go to the dining room and dispense with the service of a special nurse.

Her health was somewhat impaired during her senior year but she was able to take a prominent part in the class play of 1919. Her many friends will be pleased to hear of her continued improvement.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR THE COMING FOOTBALL SEASON

The prospects for a star football team the coming season are fine. The High School has not secured a coach yet but are assured of a good one. Most of last season's team will be back in school next year. There is McCallister, at one half, Boxwell at full, and Shoup at quarter who with the aid of another good back line man will make a back line that will be hard to stop by any team. Then there is Yeakley, a Freshman last season, who played an excellent game at center. With one year's experience he should show great form this year.

L. Douthett and Don, Currie two of last season's men will be back at their posts at guard. Ballentyne and R. Douthett are two great and good tacklers. Cowan the stellar end should be able to hold one of the end positions. Purdon the other end man has quit school and his receiving ability and tackling will be missed. Ferguson a next year Senior will make the guards work some for those positions. He has plenty of weight and is a hard hitter.

Red Randall is another promising player as he is fast and a sure tackler. Smith who was injured last year, will also give tough competition to any one he tries out against. With a good coach and the material that is in the High School there is no reason why Central High should not have a victorious team next year.

ENJOY SOCIAL TIME

A number of central High pupils gathered at the home of Mrs. C. L. Spencer Monday evening for a social good time. A number of interesting games and contests were had. The party Mildred Bankard and Tom Moore succeed in winning the greatest number of contests. "Here's my Nose" furnished a lot of excitement and roars of laughter among the players. At the usual late hour, the party came to a close, everyone voting it an unusual good time.

SOPHOMORES LOSE GAME TO EAST HIGH

The Sophomores were greatly handicapped by the absence of several regular players. The Sophomore's pitchers were embarrassed by poor support at times. Lincoln High hit the pill hard and played a good fielding game. The score by innings—123456 R
Sophomores.....230070—12
Lincoln.....433057—22

How They Stand

W. L. Pct.
Juniors.....1 0 .1000
Freshmen.....3 1 .750
Sophomores.....1 4 .200
Seniors.....0 1 .000

The Junior and Senior Class teams have had considerable trouble in getting enough men to play and each have had several games canceled. The freshmen team has been going at a good clip. They have defeated the Sophomores twice and the champion seniors but were defeated by Lincoln High.

With the completion of the G. E. Peters, monument in Woodland Cemetery, that Cemetery now has one of the finest pieces of mortuary work in the state.

The handsome stone is the work of the George Dodds and Sons Granite Works, designed by the Company designer, Ralph Hall and constructed of the famous Victoria White marble. Its base is 13 feet, six inches by five feet, four inches, and the die is eight feet wide, two feet thick and eight feet high, making the monument nine feet, eight inches tall.

The whole piece weighs ten tons. Around the edge of the huge stone and the urns which grace each end, the passion flower is used for a border. A cross, the name, and the words "In the Cross of Christ, I Glory," are cut on the front of the handsome monument.

The monument is situated in the new addition of Woodland, on the west side, and is easily the finest monument in the entire Cemetery. It is said to be the finest monument in this section of the state.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL PROGRAM RENDERED

One of the most delightful musical programs ever presented in this city was given Friday night by the Xenia Woman's Music Club, assisted by Mr. George Littell of Indianapolis, Mr. Henry Ditzell and Mr. Harlan E. Haines of Dayton, at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Much talent was displayed by Miss Juanita Rankin. Her first group of piano numbers, showed an unusual delicacy of touch, and the great beauty of the group lay in the ability of its interpreter as well as in itself.

Mr. George Littell in voice, manner and bearing, proved himself of unusual ability, in a group of five songs. Mr. Littell is a talented baritone, and sang with an appealing richness of voice, combined with purity of diction. Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff played a most able accompaniment to Mr. Littell's songs which aided much in the interpretation.

One of the most interesting features of the concert was Beethoven's "Concerta, C Minor" with Mr. Henry Ditzell at the organ and Miss Rankin at the piano. Mr. Ditzell is one of the foremost teachers of piano and organ and one of the best organists in the state. He proved himself a master in marvelous orchestral effects. Miss Rankin is a pianist of marked ability and was apparently unconscious of technical difficulties. She reflected much credit upon Mr. Ditzell her instructor.

A chorus of twenty women's voices presented the cantata, "The Legend of Granada," in an admirable manner. The club chorus was fortunate in securing as conductor Mr. Harlan E. Haines, whose splendid interpretation of the Spanish legend, was shown in the splendid rendition of the number. All participating in the chorus were talented musicians. The solo parts were taken by Miss Emma Davidson, who always delights Xenia audiences and Mr. Littell. Both splendidly portrayed the characters which they represented. Miss Pauline Shoup added much of the interpretation by her able accompaniment.

The high standard of the concert has helped much to advance the interest of music in Xenia and greatly pleased a large audience which was eager to show its appreciation.

ORIENT HILL RESIDENTS ENJOY COMMUNITY SUPPER

Two hundred people, residents of Orient Hill and their families enjoyed a community supper, on Friday evening. The dinner served at eight o'clock, consisted of four courses. Yellow and white was used in the color scheme, candle shades, favors and garden flowers in profusion being used to carry out these colors.

Dresses, made by the girls of Miss Lane's class, under her instruction, were worn by the guests at the affair, and offered a clever feature.

Covers were laid for the following guests, Miss Lane, Louise Barnett, Virginia Ralls, Pauline Sutton, Florence Chew, Theda Downing, Kathryn Lane, Ruth Clouse, Elizabeth McCormick, Beatrice Stiff and the hostess, Miss Parrett.

FIRST SERIES OF SHOWERS IS GIVEN BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Cathryn Uhl was a charming hostess at a delightful miscellaneous shower given at her home for the pleasure of Miss Hetty June Holman, a popular young bride-elect, Wednesday evening.

The Uhl residence was artistically decorated with red and white hearts and hosts of flowers. The main part of the evening was spent in music and games with tiny individual barrels. Prizes were turned over to Miss Holman.

At a late hour, the guests assembled in the dining room, and by the hostess and bride-elect. The dining room was beautifully decorated with rainbow colors. The center piece for the table consisted of a miniature lake, upon which sailed a boat whose occupants were a toy bride and groom. Puzzle placards were used, and when put together resembled an umbrella, suggesting the shower. Tiny bunches of sweet peas tied with tulle served as favors and a large tulle bow tied at the chair of Miss Holman was used in the decorations. After a delicious rainbow luncheon was served, the guests witnessed the opening of the contents of the shower barrel by the lovely bride to be.

Jun 18, is the date for the wedding of Miss Holman to Mr. Carl Brakefield. Several events are being planned for Miss Holman's pleasure. ## OLD LANDMARK OF XENIA PASSES WHEN TAILOR SHOP MOVES

Jacob Kany, merchant tailor, since 1883 located in the old Galloway building, now owned by J. D. Steele, sr., on North Detroit street, has removed and is now ready for business on the second floor of that building.

In accordance with improvement plans, which include the enlargement of the room formerly occupied by the tailoring shop and which will be occupied by the Diehl meat market, and the extension of the room of the Xenia Hat Cleaning shop and pool room. Mr. Kany agreed to move to the second floor of the building, where he has been furnished commodious quarters.

The entrance to the new Kany shop is on the north side of the building, and it takes in the entire north half of the second floor, including a large show room, a large and well lighted work room, and a smaller room in the rear. The woodwork is all white, new electrical fixtures installed, and all of Mr. Kany's furnishing will be painted white to conform with the interior decorating.

The removal of the Kany shop from its old location, records the passing of a landmark. Since 1883, when Mr. Kany came to Xenia, he has been located in the same place, five years being spent in the employ of Charles Oonk, now of Urbana, from whom he purchased the business when the latter went West. He has since operated it in the same place.

POLICE RESERVES ARE CALLED OUT WHEN CARUSO BOARDS SHIP

New York, May 28.—Police reserves were necessary to handle the crowd that turned out to bid Enrico Caruso, "bon voyage" on his trip to Italy. The famous tenor sails late this afternoon on the steamship President Wilson, with his wife and baby Gloria, in search of complete rest, that will restore his voice.

Telegrams and flowers for Caruso and his family began to arrive early in the morning; by noon the flowers overflowed the suites reserved for the tenor. Elaborate preparations have been made for the singer's trip abroad. Five cabins de luxe are reserved for his party which includes his brother, Giovanni two friends and two servants. A piano has been installed in one cabin for the singer's use. Another cabin has been fitted up as a playroom for little Gloria. The whole ship's crew from cabin boy to captain have united to make the singer comfortable.

The aboard ship party will take their meals together in a private dining saloon. Caruso's private chef will prepare special meals.

Next best players, will be permitted a score of two or three strokes that they can subtract from their total, and so on down to the weakest players, who will be given 12 or 15 strokes. The handicap will give every player an equal chance.

The directors of the club have offered a dozen $1 balls as a prize to the winner, and Louis Brandenburg, professional at the club, is also offering a dozen $1 balls for the winner. It is expected that many members will hold picnics at the club Decoration Day, and spend the afternoon on the links or the tennis courts.

In the evening there will be an informal dance, for which music will be furnished by the McKay orchestra of Wilmington. At the club opening, owing to an injury to one of the members of the orchestra, only five were able to play, but the full six pieces will be available for the Monday night affair. ## PRELIMINARY CELEBRATION OF MEMORIAL DAY WILL TAKE PLACE ON SUNDAY

Real activities in connection with the fitting celebration of Memorial Day this year began Saturday with the collection of flowers at the G. A. R. hall in the Court House for the decoration of graves.

Many flowers are needed when it is considered that Woodland cemetery alone requires 700 bouquets and those in charge of getting the flowers were busy Saturday in the attempt to obtain a sufficient number.

The first services in connection with the day will begin Sunday morning when the memorial sermon will be preached by the Rev. Albert Read at the First Baptist Church, following a program of special memorial music.

The services will also be held Monday morning in charge of G. A. R. members, and members of the G. A. R. will march to the church in a body leaving the Court House at 10:15 o'clock. Members of patriotic and civic organizations and the public are invited. The decoration of the graves at Woodland Cemetery will take place Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, the decoration being made by members of the Sons and Daughters of Veterans, and the American Legion and Auxiliary. Services at the O. S. and S. O. Home will start at 8:30 o'clock. Monday with usual cemetery exercises the Cadet Band and Battalion, and the firing of the salute and the sounding of taps. Judge E. S. Matthias, of the Ohio State Supreme Court will be the speaker at the Chapel exercises.

The services at the Catholic Cemetery, the Beaver Creek Cemetery and the Stevenson and Mercer Cemeteries will also be held Monday morning in charge of G. A. R. members. The Memorial parade will form in Xenia at one o'clock and the parade will move at 1:30 o'clock to the Cemetery, where Dr. J. G. Huber of Dayton, will deliver the address, following the usual exercises.

PUTTING

Play on the green is a radically different proposition than play on the fairway. Many a great golfer has found putting, even in its simplest form and on what are apparently easy shots, one of the chief difficulties of his golfing career. Even the most skillful player can be in perfect form today and like a nervous beginner tomorrow.

There are almost as many different kinds of putters as there are players. Each club has its followers and many excellent players get splendid results using putters of widely differing models. For myself after having tried every other imaginable kind I finally came down to the center shaft putter and because of my own success with it I advise it. It is much the easiest kind to use and its whole construction is adapted to the needs of the putting stroke which is entirely different from the play with any other club in your bag. For years I refused to use this club feeling that as long as it was barred by St. Andrew it was not golf to use it; but a man who attempts to play with an orthodox putter against a man who used a center shaft club is up against a pretty stiff proposition—he is handing hostages to fortune.

In the case of an ordinary putt, that is where there are no unusual circumstances to be faced such as sty-mies, slopes of the green, etc. I believe the ball should be always hit with the middle of the face of the club. The swing of the club should be free from jerkiness and should have the even rhythmic movement of a pendulum. The backward swing of the putter should be governed in length by the distance to the hole and the head of the putter should be exactly in the line the ball is to travel. Otherwise you lose control of the ball and accuracy is just about impossible. After the ball is struck there should be a short follow through.

The player should always remember that it is far better to play a bit too hard than too easy because in this way you "give the ball a chance" as you say. Personally I have found the most accurate putting in the world is done with the most skillful allowance for sty-mies, slope of the green, etc., all goes down for nothing if your ball doesn't quite reach the hole. Putting practice on uneven greens is very valuable because it trains a golfer in making the necessary allowance. It is impossible for me to tell a golfer how to do this but with practice it becomes a matter of golfing sense. Francis Ouimet made golfing history with his putting in his match with Ray and Vardon because of his ability to estimate the slope, and undulations of the green and thereby make due allowance for the deflection which they give to the ball. In my next article I shall deal further with the subject of putting as its importance to good golfing can hardly be overestimated.

Questions and Answers
A friend of mine insists that every shot, even a simple brassy shot on the fairway, ought to be studied before play is made. Personally I seem to do better by simply walking up to the ball and playing it. This seems to come natural to me so I think it is the best system for me don't you?
Answer—I take it from your letter that you have been playing only a short time. It may seem to you that you play better by shooting in an off-hand manner and possibly you do in comparison with the scores you would make immediately if you changed systems but if you want to ever play really well you must learn to study your plays. Golf is a thinking game. Change your method. Study your plays. You'll be pleased with your development.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT TO BE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

The most important appointment that President Harding has yet had to make, by common agreement, was that of secretary of state. It is not likely that he will have to make any appointment hereafter so important as that of chief justice of the supreme court, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edward D. White.

There have been only six chief justices of the supreme court in 120 years. The greatest figure during that long period is still the figure of John Marshall, who presided over the court for 34 years, playing the leading role in early interpretations of the constitution and establishing the functions, traditions and prestige of the court. That body has grown in scope and power with the growth of the nation. It is no exaggeration to say that its personnel is now more vital than that of either of the other two branches of our federal government.

National problems of vast complexity and importance are accumulating, dealing with the control of wealth, the preservation of fair competition, the adjustment of taxes, the relations of capital and labor and the fundamental human rights of citizens. Conflicts such as wrecked the liberties and progress of ancient Rome are now in the making. If they are to be avoided, there must be at the judicial helm a man possessing as much strength of mind and character, legal ability and progressiveness of thought as can be found combined in one American.

By common consent, the one man in the nation who seems best able to fill the bill in these respects is Ex-President William H. Taft, and there is authority for saying that President Harding has been in communication with him and has virtually tendered him this exalted position and that he has agreed to accept it. Hope such is the case.

GERMAN SALVATION.

A fact usually lost sight of in recent discussions of the German war settlement is that definite, honest reparation by Germany would benefit Germany herself as much as the allies. Not materially, perhaps, out morally.

The worst phase of Germany's present predicament is her loss of moral credit. Her moral bankruptcy is worse than her military and financial bankruptcy—if indeed she is bankrupt in those particulars. "German faith" as a national asset is a thing of the past. Not one nation on earth today trusts Germany's word or Germany's honor. There can be no greater loss than that, to a nation or an individual. All other recovery that Germany may make will be trivial and inconclusive until she recovers her reputation for square dealing. She needs that more than the allies need the damages they claim from her. And because she does need it so sorely, she needs to pay those damages as an essential step in her moral rehabilitation.

If Germany were to come out frankly and admit her responsibility for the war, which she has not yet done, and express an honest desire to make the utmost recompense within her power, and set forth a plan for meeting the allied demands whose sincerity and adequacy were not open to question, and should start to carry out that plan without further prodding or compulsion, Germany would at once find herself well on the way to salvation. And can it be doubted that the way of honor would also prove to be, in the end, the way of prosperity? Righteous fulfillment of obligations prospers a nation as it does a person, by developing the moral qualities and habits that make lasting prosperity possible.

IN THE PRESIDENT'S MIND.

There are three things foremost in the mind of President Harding, and these three things are of the first concern to all his countrymen. They are foremost, too, in the mind of America.

In a series of three addresses in New York City the President dealt briefly with that great human impulse to end wars, with the need of reducing governmental burdens and restrictions and with the imperative necessity that America and the world shall get on with the day's work. These three problems are of the war and grew out of it.

Standing by the long rows of the coffined dead, flag-covered, home at last from far-off battlefields, President Harding voiced the hope and the yearnings rather than the conviction of America when he said, "It must not be again!"

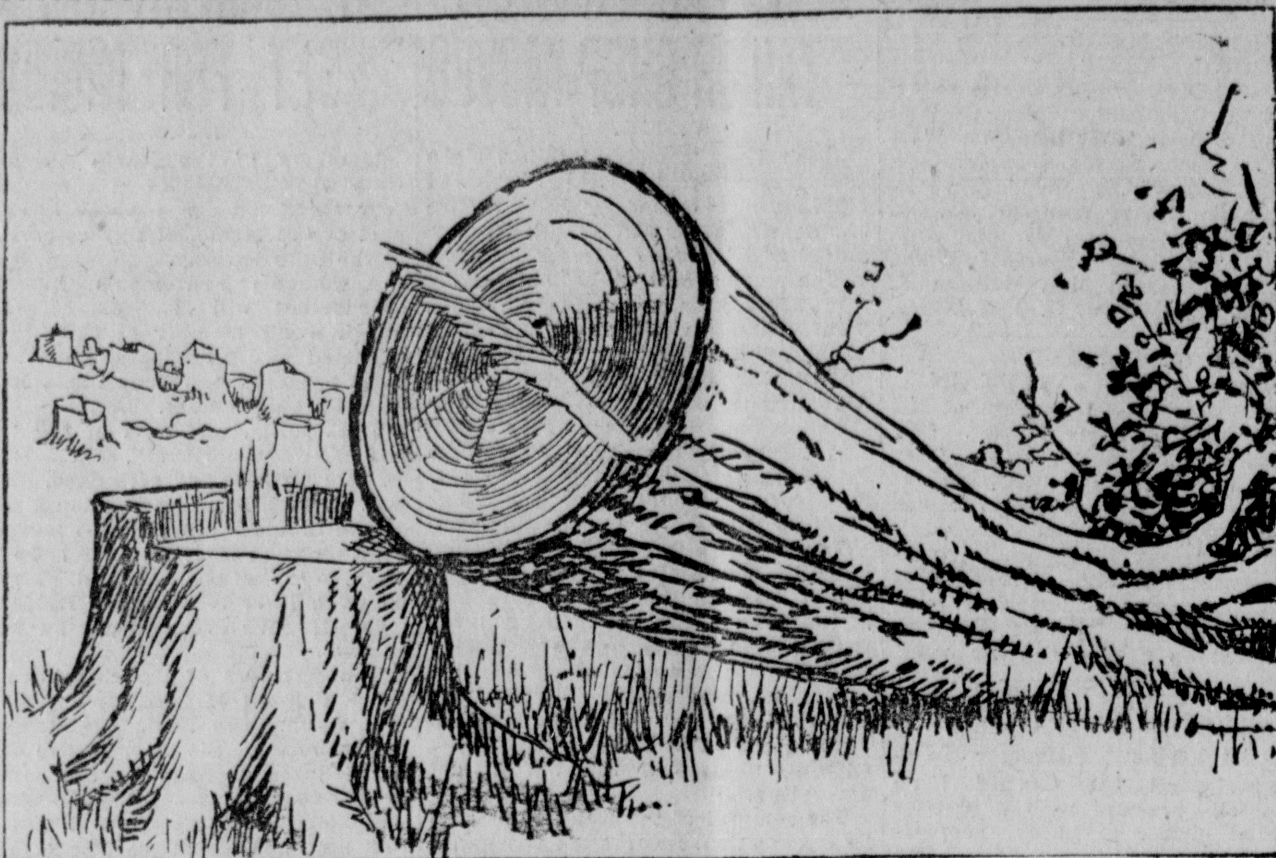

That is in his mind, as is the hope that we can make America a nation "so righteous as never to make a war for conquest and so powerful in righteousness that none will dare provoke her wrath." Like the President, we all dream and wish for such an America. In this, too, he spoke what is in the minds of the millions of Americans.

IT'S A WINNER.

This world is a winner, my masters, though troubles may on us descend; we always live through the disasters, and everything's right in the end. I've lived through a surfeit of sorrow, I've lived through an ocean of care, I've wept through the night and the morrow convinced me my woe wasn't there. Some people are always abusing the planet whereon we abide; they hint that if they had the choosing, on some other world we would ride. But when they are scheduled to leave us, and flee to a happier clime, they look on the journey as grievous, they think their departure a crime. The longer I live on this planet, the better and smoother it seems, this mixture of gumbo and granite is surely the world of my dreams. The knockers are dealing in fiction who call it a wilderness drear; there's just enough grief and affliction to season the happiness here. There's just enough hustle and hurry to spur us to showing our worth; there's just enough trouble and worry to keep us from dying of mirth. If others are putting up dirges, your voice to the wailing don't lend; the world from all shadows emerges, and everything's right in the end.

At the meeting of city council last night a heavy reduction in the levy for the police fund was made. Property owners of Washington street, petitioned for grading and graveling the same, waiving all claims for damages. The petitioners represented more than two thirds of the abutting property

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

("These lines," explains the author "are somewhat rough and brutal; but it is time that somebody talked plainly on the subject.")

Unless you deliberately pull yourself out of that class, you are just an ordinary "sucker."

Radical changes in values are going on daily; and unless you "get the game," know what's going on, you're apt to pay like the devil for your negligence.

The market on commodities is down; the market on investments is up; so it stands to reason that you ought to be buying in both markets, or in one anyway.

Now as to the details; how and where to buy.

Read newspaper advertisements. In fact, any man who fails to read advertisements in these days is a fool from whom his money will soon be parted.

It pays better to read the advertisements than it does the news. Reading advertisements is a necessity, reading news is a luxury.

Read advertisements to know what things to buy, what investments to make. How else, except in a hit or miss, "sloppy" way, are you to get the information?

Practically every reliable, up-to-date concern advertises.

The more reliable and progressive they become, the more they advertise. You are led automatically to the right places to buy.

Try reading the advertisements and acting on their suggestions. Advertising advice is sound.

All fraudulent advertisements are barred.

If in times past advertising had arisen to its present clean-cut position of honesty and importance, the world would be lots better today.

Read the advertisements, trust them and you profit automatically. Use your good judgment, of course, but read the advertisements to enable you to give your judgment full play.

Look through the advertisements in this very issue. See how quickly you get a line on today's opportunities. Then form the habit of looking at the advertisements daily.

Speed up on the news enough to let you size up the advertisements and see how much clearer your mind will be, how much sheer happiness comes daily from the cheery advertising messages.

All advertising today has a value which it never possessed before.

Is It Yours?

This is the Birthday of
GEORGE I.

May 28, 1660.

George I, King of England, was a German by birth and descent, who hated the country he was supposed to rule; could not speak a word of its language, and cared nothing at all about its politics or problems.

He was born in Germany in 1660, and was heir to all the Hanover possessions. At 22 he was married to Sophia Dorothea, who was young and pretty and much more good natured than he was.

The morals of the Court of Hanover were decidedly lax. The Prince amused himself with any number of mistresses, but when a certain Count looked with friendly eyes upon his wife the Count was promptly and mysteriously murdered.

Through his mother he was descended from James I. of England. His father, had allied himself with the Whig party so as to make himself powerful in England. When Queen Anne was near death the Whigs wanted the Prince of English soil so they could make him King before the other party, the Tories, could advocate the cause of James the Pretender. The Prince was crowned George I. of England.

He was of little importance politically. He knew no English and his politicians knew no German. He spent most of his time at Hanover and used England simply to take money from for his German favorites.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

The universal alibi for failure is the cry "I never had a chance." The common explanation of success is "He had unusual advantages." The rather and mother of success are Knowledge and Action.

It is not enough to know. Knowledge is useless except as it determines action.

Action is the blundering of a child with edge tools, unless governed by knowledge. Educational advantages—an obsolete phase in an America that has made education as free as air.

H. G. Wells describes the passing of the aristocracy of intellect. When books were rare and paper costly, education depended on lectures, limited to the sons and daughters of those who could buy leisure for unproductive youth.

With free libraries, night schools, university extensions, and mail instruction, no man may say that his education is complete, or that training in any vocation calls for aught but the energy required to secure it.

Wells has sound reason to his argument that attendance at college no longer justifies a claim to education; inability to enter a college is no longer an excuse for illiteracy.

Are you dissatisfied? Then there is still hope for your future. But your discontent must be directed at yourself, and not at your employers, surroundings or circumstances.

You are the architect of your own fortune, and no Egyptian Task Master compels you to make bricks without straw. You are no slave of circumstance. Age, sex, color or previous conditions of servitude to habits of sloth cannot keep you from success.

Are you a clerk? Then study the goods on the shelves behind you, and the interesting personalities of the customers before you. Know and apply the psychology of salesmanship. Shift the fear of losing your job to your employer's fear of losing your services.

Are you a mechanic? The perfect machine has not been made. Study the uses of the product you fabricate. Study shop methods and suggest improvements. Remember that some Neolithic ancestors first tied a stick to a stone, and made a hatchet.

Acquire knowledge and then apply it. Know what to do, and then do it. This is the whole secret of success.

URGE ATTENDANCE AT FORUM MEETING ON NEXT TUESDAY

City officials are urging the attendance of citizens at the forum meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, next Tuesday evening, when H. J. Manning, engineer from the Ohio Inspection Bureau at Columbus will be the speaker.

In asking for a good attendance, the officials explain that Mr. Manning will talk on a subject of vital interest and importance to Xenians. His address on fire hazards, will be localized by application to this city, where the question of insurance classification and rates, has been a poignant issue and a source of considerable attention from the administration for some time.

The natural deterioration of the old water works machinery, lessening the efficiency of the steam pumps, greatly decreased the efficiency of fire fighting methods here during the last five or six years, according to representatives of the Bureau. They say that an inspection a few years ago, would have meant an increase in Xenia's insurance classification from 3 to a 5 or 6 point city.

Now, with the new water supply, an improved system of operation, the city is attempting to retain the old standard and get back to the level of efficiency that existed when the old steam pumps were in good operation when the last classification was made a number of years ago. Officials of the Ohio Inspection Bureau have recommended that certain plans be put in effect to reduce fire hazards and increase fire fighting efficiency, in order to retain the old classification, and these the city is contemplating carrying out, however, the citizens, who want to see the rates unchanged.

Among these recommendations is the suggestion of a building code and the elimination of fire hazards, and in this matter alone, the cooperation and assistance of citizens will be needed, it is pointed out. City Auditor T. H. Zell, who is doing the city managerial work, has been instrumental in bringing Mr. Manning to the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday for that reason. The meeting is considered as a plan to bring the city's responsibilities before the people. The meeting will be open to questions and suggestions following Mr. Manning's address.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

ILLNESS CALLS VERA HOME

Chapter 53.

Over and over to myself I said: "I will not go away and leave Keith to spend his vacation with Margaret and Alice De Lisle!" Even should business keep him in town through the week, he would be sure to be with them for the week-ends. The very thought was unbearable.

While I was not at all tactful, I had learned to be more careful about expressing myself. So I said nothing of the revolt in my heart, but waited until Keith and I should be alone. Then I would tell him that nothing on earth would make me leave him.

I would tell him that night before we went down to dinner.

At 4 o'clock a messenger boy tapped on my door. The maid had sent him up with a telegram. My heart seemed to stop beating as I saw the yellow envelope so seldom seen by me.

"Come at once, father very ill, Sallie."

Mrs. De Lisle, my anger at Margaret, even my feeling for Keith, were all in abeyance as I read.

"Margaret!" I called.

"Yes, what is it?"

"My father is very sick. Please telephone Keith to come right up. I must go home tonight."

Without question, Margaret did as I asked. At the time I did not notice the unusual alacrity with which she acceded to my request. Afterward I recalled her attitude.

"Can I help you pack?" she startled me by her offer.

"Yes—no—I shall take only a few things."

"Better be sensible and take your trunk. When there is illness one never knows how long they will be needed."

It was a sensible suggestion, and I followed it. I was nearly ready to go when Keith came hurrying in. He had stopped at the station and secured my tickets and sleeping accommodations. I would go on the train leaving at midnight.

I couldn't eat any dinner, but Keith insisted the maid put up a dainty little box for me.

"You may feel hungry before you sleep, and not be able to get anything on the train—anything you could eat anyway," he said when I expostulated, saying I couldn't swallow.

He was so kind, so sympathetic all the evening, that it made it hard to leave him. Margaret too seemed to go out of her way to do little things for me, while the two children were keenly interested and sympathetic.

"Is your father old like grandpa was?" Gloria asked.

"Not quite as old, dear, but never has been as strong as your grandfather was." I did not add that he had been obliged to work harder, that we had been poor, very poor compared to the Sandersons.

"If he dies you will be all right cause your clothes are black," she added innocently.

Tears gushed to my eyes. Child though she was, she had brought the possibility of loss of home to me. I had tried to put the thought of a serious result of father's illness from me. But now I sobbed unrestrainedly for a few moments, and Gloria, frightened at the effect of her innocent remark, wept with me.

Keith took me in his arms and soothed me. Then we went up to our apartment and stayed alone until time for me to leave. Margaret was still up and was very kind, sending messages to Sallie, and expressing the hope that I would find father better.

It was hard to leave Keith, and I clung to him until he very nearly was carried off with me. He had insisted I take the lunch box, and had bought me some fruit besides. I would reach home about 10 o'clock the following morning.

I was too anxious, too restless to sleep. And in the very early morning my young, healthy, appetite asserted itself and I ravenously ate every bit of the luncheon. I felt a little shame that so prosaic a thing as hunger should occur to me when father was so ill.

Sallie was at the station.

"He is alive," she said in answer to my questioning look, "but no better."

Then as we rode home in the jitney she told me of his illness. He had had a slight stroke at his desk. He had not rallied from it as she should, and the doctors feared another, and that it would be fatal.

"They say he had no resistance," Sallie added. "Poor dad! No wonder the way he has worked for all of us. No vacations, no good times. Mother is terribly broken up. Be as cheerful as you can, Vera. It will do us all good if you are bright. And I do hope you have something to wear besides black. It was foolish for you to put on heavy mourning for Mr. Sanderson."

"Margaret insisted. And yes, I have one white dress in my trunk."

"Well wear it all the time. It is depressing to see you in black."

Tomorrow—Sallie Advises Me to Return.

SUFFERED SIX YEARS

Mrs. Stoll Tells Women
How She Found Relief
From Pain

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for six years with pain every month, had vomiting spells the first two days, and was unfit to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took the medicine with satisfactory results. I am a midwife and recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and my daughters take it. You may publish these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LOUISE STOLL, 609 W. York St., Phila., Pa.

It is not natural for women to suffer as did Mrs. Stoll, and in nine cases out of ten it is caused by some displacement or derangement of the system which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes, because it acts as a natural restorative.

Every woman who is subject to cramps, headaches, nervous spells, backache or those dreadful bearing-down pains should profit by Mrs. Stoll's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and if there is any complication write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about her health.
